OPENS THIS SUMMER IN A DENVER DIVE ROCK CLUB

The hit Broadway musical with a cult following will run for just 11 performances

DENVER, CO (April 25, 2024) — A glam rock musical that opened in the West Village of New York City in 1998 and became an off-Broadway and then global sensation will electrify Denver audiences over eleven performances this August 1 to 17 at Herman’s Hideaway, a rock club on S. Broadway that opened in 1962.

The Tony Award-winning Hedwig and the Angry Inch is a gender-bending musical about an East German rocker on a journey toward self-discovery and acceptance.

Produced by Denver-based Give 5 Productions, the Denver run will include a variety pre-show curated by Denver drag darling Jessica L’Whor, featuring Colorado drag performances, circus acts, and burlesque. Doors open 30 minutes before each pre-show, with food trucks parked outside Herman’s hideaway and a full bar inside. Each night also features a costume contest with prizes for the best representation of ‘80s rock glam with East Berlin vibes.

“At this time in our history, it’s critical to amplify queer storytelling,” said Julia Tobey, founder and CEO of Give 5 Productions. “We’re creating a safe space for these stories.”
